ONLY A SMALL group of interested citizens bothered to attend the recent informal hearing on the proposed Phase II program of the county expressway system called by the City Council.

The objective of the hearing was to get the citizens' reaction to recommendations that this city must make on improvements to San Tomas Expressway scheduled for Phase II and to be financed by a countywide $112 million bond issue.

One of the major points of consideration was the construction of pedestrian overpasses at Rincon and Latimer avenues now deadened by the expressway.

WHETHER THE city will recommend that these overpasses be included in the Phase II program will probably be determined at the next public hearing set for Wednesday, Sept. 7, in the Council chambers.

It is hoped that the recommendation can be submitted to the county Transportation Committee by Sept. 14.

It is also hoped that a greater representation will be on hand at this hearing on Sept. 7 than was at the informal hearing, for whether we like it or not the expressway does play a major role in this community even now and it is not yet completed.

WHAT BOTHERED US at the last hearing was the conspicious absence of residents from the so-called westside area of town. Not one resident from this section took part in the discussion.

That was in sharp contrast to the situation that occurred a comparatively short time ago (last October and November) when the council chambers were jammed with westside residents demanding that something be done about getting across the expressway.

At the informal hearing on Phase II of the expressway program, pedestrian overpasses at Rincon got top billing for the night. But it played to a small house.

FILES OF PAST issues of a newspaper often provide enlightening information.

Here is the way the news story began in the November 10 issue of The Press which reported the protests of the westside residents:

"Irate and frustrated parents of children attending Campbell Elementary (Cherry Lane) concerned over the hazardous conditions brought about by the San Tomas Expressway on Monday night asked and received the support of the City Council in their battle to improve the situation."

The story went on to report that the parents emphasized that the anticipated heavy traffic of the future might create a condition that could only be eliminat-

FULL HOUSE NEXT WEEK--West Valley College's parking lot on Latimer Ave. next to the post office will be humming with activity after next Tuesday when the college opens. Some of the parking spaces have been eliminated because of the movable classrooms (in the background) that are now located on a portion of the lot.

WV College opens Tuesday

West Valley College opens for the fall term next Tuesday, Sept. 6, and Campbell residents, after a summer respite, near the college at Campbell Ave. and Winchester are again bracing themselves for an avalanche of mobile-minded college students descending on the city streets.

The old Campbell Grammer School buildings at Winchester and Campbell avenues still provides the basic college facilities as it has since the college opened for the first time in Sept., 1964.

But the situation is vastly different than it was two years ago in many ways.

And the college will be using the "temporary quarters" for several more years.

How many more will depend a great deal on what happens to the $21.5 million bond issue on the ballot Nov. 8 to get funds to build the first permanent campus in Santa Clara.

Two previous bond issues have been turned down by the electorate of the three high school districts (Campbell, Los Gatos and Santa Clara) that comprise the junior college district.

But even after the bond issue passes, the temporary quarters still will have to be utilized for some time. And this presents an ever-increasing problem to the college administration and its expanding college enrollment.

A number of residences adjacent to the college have been leased for college office quarters and this year,

Commission gets plans for new Odd Fellows hall

Plans for a new Odd Fellows lodge building, at Campbell Ave., and First St. have been submitted to the Planning Commission for approval at the next meeting of the commission on Tuesday, Sept. 6.

The plans for the IOOf structure, which will replace the old building that was demolished some time ago after serving the community for more than 60 years, are part of one of the longest agendas of the Planning Commission in recent years.

The agenda includes 10 requests for approval of plans of various types, ranging from signs (three); landscaping of a parking lot (Raffanti); a commercial complex on Bascom and Apricot and three warehouse buildings.

In addition to the approval of plans, nine public hearings are scheduled; three of them concern proposed zone changes while the others are for use permits and variances.

One of the use permits requested is for a restaurant and cocktail lounge at 310 E. Hacienda submitted by R. V. Cloud.

Another permit submitted by MacLyn Morris is for a mobile home park at 295 Union Ave., located near the proposed drive-in theater in county territory that the city is protesting.

The plans for the Odd Fellows hall call for a 3800 sq. ft. lodge and 1600 sq. ft. of commercial rental. The building proposed will be one-story in the first phase. The sec-

Expressway plan gets final test

Campbell's recommendation as to the proposed Phase II program of the county expressway system will probably include pedestrian overpasses at Rincon and Latimer avenues as top priority projects.

That seems to be the general consensus of city officials as they prepared for the public hearing on the overall program scheduled for 8 p.m. next Wednesday, Sept. 7. What other projects that will be included will also be determined at the public hearing.

Councilman Bill Smeed, this city's representative on the County Transportation Committee, hopes to be able to submit Campbell's recommendation to the county committee by Sept. 14.

Before the City Council makes its recommendation, however, it is expected that Bill Wren, city engineer; Dick Hogan, planning director and City Manager Bob Stephens will report on studies that the city staff has made on the various proposals that have been submitted.

The Planning Commission has suggested pedestrian overpasses and a right-turn off ramp at Rincon for southbound traffic. The Parks and Recreation Commission has emphasized the need for a pedestrian overpass at Rincon to allow access to the city-owned property that is to be developed into a park.

At the public hearing next Wednesday, pro and con arguments will probably be presented by citizens advocating or opposing the opening of Rincon and Latimer now deadended by the expressway.

The city's recommendation will be submitted to the county committee and may or may not be included in the overall countywide bond package of $112 million that will be presented to the electorate in February to finance Phase II of the countywide expressway program.

On Tuesday of this week the City Council met in a study session to discuss the expressway program as it affects this community.

Supervisors set record high county tax rate

Campbell area taxpayers along with the rest of Santa Clara County residents, will have to dig deeper than ever for county tax payments following action Monday by the Board of Supervisors setting the county's tax rate at $2.065 per $100 assessed valuation.

The new rate is 20.9 cents higher than last year and sets a new record, with $41,729,013, to be raised by property taxes.

Nearly half of the record tax rate is set aside for public assistance with 32.8 of every dollar scheduled for the welfare and hospital program.

Total county budget including all revenue, such as state and federal funds, gasoline taxes etc. is set at $115,370,511, an increase of $7 million over last year's budget.

Breakdown of the marathon tax-dollar, which does not include a separate 21-cents per $100 assessed valuation for the county library system, is as follows:

Welfare and hospital, 32.8; general government, 22.4; public protection, 21.2; debt service, 13.9; health, 4.9; recreation, 1.9; fund reserves, 1.9 and education, 1.0.

The record budget submitted by County Finance Director Ed Glaeser was justified, according to Glaeser, in part by the small increase in property assessed valuation.

Former resident learns from Campbell Press of possible English "legacy"

Correspondence between a former Campbell resident and her aunt in England, whom she had never met, may possibly have considerable bearing on the settlement of the estate of the aunt, now deceased.

Although the aunt-niece correspondence ceased some 10 years ago, the estate agents in England have been anxious to locate the niece.

And through the services of The Campbell Press, their quest has been successful.

As a result of the "Query from England" story on the front page of The Campbell Press last week, Mrs. John (Edyth) Zamira, Sr., a former Campbell resident, is now anxiously waiting to learn more details concerning a legacy she may have inherited in Cornwall, England.

In a letter from J.A. Treglown & Sons, estate agents in Penzance, Cornwall, England, The Press was asked to assist in tracing Mrs. Edyth Zamira, daughter of the late Richard Trembath, whose last known address was on Esther Ave., Campbell.

The estate agents wanted Mrs. Zamira to contact them regarding various properties in Cornwall in the estate of Hetty Trembath, deceased.

Hardly had last week's issue been distributed before Mrs. Zamira, resident of San Jose for the past 10 years, was contacted by Mrs. Abbie Goodrich, a former neighbor on Esther Ave., where the Zamira family lived for 10 years until 1956. The Zamiras had been Campbell residents for some 19 years prior to their moving to San Jose 10 years ago.

Acting on the information in the letter to The Press, the attorney for Mrs. Zamira immediately cabled the estate agents in Cornwall. A letter with more details was also sent to the English firm, explaining among other things that up to 10 years ago Mrs. Zamira had corresponded quite regularly with her Aunt Hetty Trembath, her father's sister.

The correspondence had ceased, however in 1956 when her aunt informed Mrs. Zamira that she was going to Australia and would send her niece her new address upon arrival.

NO WORD

And that was the last Mrs. Zamira heard from or about her aunt until 10 years later when the 'Query from England' appeared in The Press.

Mrs. Zamira will not know when or where her aunt died until she hears from the estate agents in Cornwall. Incidentally, the estate agents in their letter to The Press spelled Zamira as "Zamica" apparently mistaking a "r" for a "c" in the aunt's papers.

Mrs. Zamira had never met her aunt or, for that matter, has she ever been in Eng-

It is school time

This is the time of year when thoughts about schools and education are foremost in mind. Summer vacation days are almost over and the classroom bells are about to ring for the fall term.

But the problems of education no longer can be confined to a nine-month period. They are of the year-around variety and becoming increasingly troublesome ones, especially on the financial front.

But the opening of the fall term is an apropos time to focus in on the educational picture, for traditionally the emphasis at this time of year centers on schools.

This year, for example, another avalanche of new enrollment (from kindergarten through the 14th grade), approximately 200,000 more than last year, is about to descend upon the states already overcrowded classrooms.

During the past two years, California's elementary, secondary and junior college total enrollment has increased by 450,000 which is more by far than the total population of many of the major cities in the state.

We believe that a long hard look must be taken at the entire educational financial structure in this state.

Better means must be devised whereby some of the load is taken off the property taxpayer's back and more equitably distributed.

This tremendous growth in the schools of our state and especially in our area, has made it impossible for any one district to finance its operation without outside financial assistance.

Without so-called state aid (or even federal support) the burden on the individual property taxpayer would be so great that it would be ridiculous to even consider such an eventuality.

There is no question in our mind that the lead must come from the state level in finding more equitable means to support the schools of our state.

So, as the school bells start ringing again throughout the state, we think it is an excellent time for all of us to give some thought to the entire educational picture and the problem of financing same.

Education today is much more complicated financially and otherwise than it was in the past.

And it is not a simple procedure to curtail a program that has been developed to improve the citizens of tomorrow.

It has become increasingly apparent that without the proper educational background these citizens of tomorrow are going to suffer.

High school students, in this competitive age, no longer can wait until their senior year to decide whether or not they will go on to college.

And high school seniors cannot wait until after their graduation day to apply for admission to a college or university.

We recently read with interest a list of suggestions to high school seniors about getting into college. It was emphasized that November was the absolute deadline for college application.

Times have changed and the youngsters have to recognize this. No longer is applying for college admission merely a matter of filling out an application and mailing it.

California is offering its youngsters a wonderful educational program. But if the kids do not take advantage of it, the taxpayers have a right to wonder and worry about the load they are carrying.

Locally West Valley College and the parochial schools will be the first to open their doors. Tuesday, Sept. 6, will be their first day of classes.

On Sept. 12, the other schools in the area will begin the fall term.

West Valley College, which begins its third year of operation this fall, has done a remarkable job in developing an outstanding two-year junior college program in the make-shift quarters of the old Campbell Grammer School. But the facilities are inadequate and the program must suffer because of this.

Scheduled for electorate approval in the three high school districts (Campbell, Los Gatos and Santa Clara) that comprise the junior college district is a $21.5 million bond issue on Nov. 8.

The district board has specified that $17 million of the bond issue will be spent on the construction of a campus in Santa Clara.

Although the district has acquired a 130-acre site in Saratoga, strong opposition from that area in the past defeated bond issues that would provide facilities on the Saratoga site.

On the other hand, civic leaders in Santa Clara strongly endorse a junior college campus in their community.

So it has become a matter now of expediency.

A campus is needed with proper facilities. A bond issue is necessary to finance these facilities. But the bond issue first must be approved by the voters.

Any other questions?

ed by an overpass.

THE STORY FURTHER explained that Ken Sanders, acting chairman of the Cherry Lane Safety Committee, and many other speakers emphasized the need for an overpass and maintained that the estimated $100,000 cost would be well worth it.

Council members, according to the news story, informed the people that in Phase II of the county expressway system, overpasses will be considered.

WE CONCEDE, of course, that the informal hearing was held during "vacation" and apparently there has been a moratorium on the pressing problem because the kids aren't in school

But the school district officials were present at the hearing and participated in the discussion, indicating that the problem was serious.

But where were those parents who descended in force on the council last winter?

WE FIRMLY BELIEVE that a pedistrian overpass is needed at Rincon Ave. We sincerely hope that the City Council makes such a recommendation as part of Phase II of the county expressway system and that it is accepted by the county committee.

We support such a recommendation even during the "vacation period".

And we don't even have any kids in school or do we live on the westside of town.

TRADITIONALLY attending "grandma's funeral" has been used as the excuse over the years to get out to the ball park.

And, of course, grandson was a mite embarrased, if he was spotted at the ball game by the boss who was attending the same "funeral."

Recently Brent Ulrich, the top wheel in the back shop of The Press, experienced the modern day version of "grandma's funeral."

He was asked the cost to print up one copy of a memorial similar to those furnished by a funeral chapel, but using a name of an out-of-town mortuary as well as an out-of-town address for the deceased. The name of the deceased was not important.

Apparently the boss in this case had demanded proof that the time off of several days that was taken for a "funeral" had been justified.

Brent respectfully declined to furnish the "proof".

movable classrooms have been placed on the two college-leased parking lots at Latimer and Rincon.

COMPLICATED

Complicating the space problem even more is the recent report that rated three of the old grade school buildings as "unsafe" under the so-called Field Act of 1934.

The college trustees have agreed to rehabilitate one structure for $9000 but it will cost $434,850 to get the main building up to the safety standards.

In 1964 when the college opened for the first time less than 2000 students were enrolled. Two weeks ago it was reported that 3884 students had already been "programmed". Of this number, 2614 were regular day students, and, 1270 extended day (night) students, an increase of more than 1500 students from last year.

The full-time faculty now stands at 108 plus 11 full-time administrative staff members.

GOOD RELATIONS

Since the college has come to town, the relationship between the city and school has been excellent in most fields. The major complaint has been that the mobile-minded college students persist in using residential streets to park their cars. The college-leased parking lot on Rincon Ave. was virtually vacant during last year.

Some of the more skeptical local citizens expect that the parking problem may be even more acute this year now that movable classrooms occupy some of the parking lot space.

College officials, according to Dr. Wallace Hall, president since the junior college district was established in 1963, are seeking to instill new parking habits in the thousands of students who will be driving cars to the campus starting next week.

NEW HABITS

The new habits are necessitated in part by the fact that some 125 spaces previously located on the Latimer lot have been taken for use for portable classrooms, leaving about 225 spaces in that area.

This is more than offset by the 708 parking spaces, which, until now, have not been fully utilized on the Rincon parking lots, south and west of the present temporary campus.

A campaign is under way at the college to familiarize incoming students with the new lot, and the fact that two buildings are located there, a microbiology lab and a 100-seat lecture room, will aid the campaign by providing early morning classes so that students can "come and park all day."

Dr. Hall emphasized that there is "plenty of parking" available for the students, the problem is to "get them to the right places." He pointed out that the Latimer lot comprised only 2.5 acres, while the Rincon lot has six acres of parking.

Student leaders, who are joining in the campaign to urge use of the Rincon lot, are also suggesting to the Campbell City Council that a pedestrian crosswalk be placed from the entrance on the lot on Campbell Ave. across the street to Campbell High School, thus eliminating the necessity of waiting for two long traffic-light changes at the busy Campbell-Winchester intersection.

Any registered student can get a parking permit for his car for the Rincon lot, college officials emphasized, thus eliminating the necessity of parking on Campbell streets.

Campbell files injunction suit against drive-in theater

On Monday of this week the City of Campbell filed an injunction suit in the Superior Court to halt the construction of a drive-in movie theater off Union Ave. and McGlincey Lane in county territory but adjacent to the Campbell city limits.

In the complaint Campbell has specified that the drive-in theater will affect the residential and industrial pattern included in the McGlincey Lane Development Plan of the city.

It also specifies that it will increase the costs of this city's police without recompense from a taxpayer and that it will overburden the Campbell streets that will be used for ingress and egress to the theater.

It will create fire hazards, water and refuse disposal problems and affect the well-being of Campbell citizens by noise and traffic.

The complaint also maintains that if the theater used land within the city limits for access, it would be in violation of existing zoning ordinances.

The suit is filed against Syufy Enterprises; Winchester Drive-in Theater, Inc., the Scorsur estate, Santa Clara County building inspector.

DRINKING FOUNTAIN? Three Campbell youngsters had fun quenching their thirst last Friday when a water line was broken at Winchester and Budd avenues, resulting in a junior-grade geyser. According to the police report, the brakes on the car driven by Mrs. Wilora Dolezal, 1373 Phelps, San Jose, did not work properly when applied at the crosswalk and the car swerved into the fence and water line. In the photo, Dave Hollis, 131 Wilton, Apt. 1, is at the "fountain" while Jim Scott (left) of 203 Wilton, Apt. 4 and Mark Boudreault, 266 S. California, are waiting their turns.

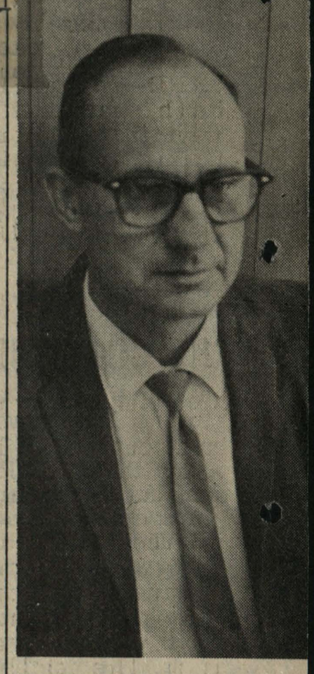
The plans provide for 23 spaces, although the city requires 36. However it has been pointed out that 23 could be sufficient inasmuch as there are different times of operation for the uses.

If the second story is added, two lots at the rear, now occupied by single-family dwellings could be utilized for parking.



BUILDING OFFICIAL--Wallace Byron, 43, has been named acting building official by City Manager Bob Stephens to succeed W. L. (Bud) Morser, who resigned to accept employment in private industry after 12 years with the city.

Byron has served as senior building inspector for the past 2 1/2-years and prior to that was with the San Jose building inspector's office. Born in Pennsylvania, Byron served as a pilot during World War II. He is the current president of the city employees association. He and his wife, Lillian, have four children and reside at 863 Sweet Briar Dr., Campbell.

IN CORNWALL, ENGLAND--Richard Trembath, father of Mrs. Edyth Zamira, former Campbell resident, poses with his sister Hetty Trembath during his visit to England in 1925. Estate agents in Cornwall enlisted the aid of The Campbell Press to locate Mrs. Zamira with respect to the estate of the late Hetty Trembath. Mrs. Zamira's father died in 1944.

land, but during the 12 years that they corresponded regularly, plus information obtained from her father, she is fairly well-informed on the family background.

The correspondence with her aunt started upon the deathbed of Mrs. Zamira's father, Richard Trembath, in 1944 and continued until 1956. In fact, Mrs. Zamira recalls that her first letter to her aunt was about her father's death.

Trembath was born in England but came to this country in 1887 when he died in 1944 and Mrs. Zamira thinks her aunt would have been 96 this year had she lived.

Trembath married the former Lulu Williams, also of English extraction, in San Jose in 1896. She died in 1953.

VISITS IN 1925

Mrs. Zamira recalls that her father returned to England in 1925 on a visit and a photo taken at that time shows her father and Aunt Hetty with the rocky coast of Cornwall as a background.

Mrs. Zamira recalls also that Aunt Hetty, who was a spinster, had two other unmarried sisters and an older brother who remained in England and was also unmarried.

Although Mrs. Zamira's information about the properties in Cornwall is rather sketchy, she believes that eh she believes that the she believes that the properties originally belonged to her grandparents. She recalls that Aunt Hetty had mentioned some houses, a store and a photo studio that the family might have owned at one time.

Naturally Mrs. Zamira, her husband, John and their two sons, John, Jr., and Geary, are interested, curious and mildly excited over what may develop from the "legacy".

But they are not building any dream castles.

Mrs. Zamira admits however, that because of her complete English ancestry, she would like to visit Cornwall where her father grew up.

And, of course, if anything does develop from Aunt Hetty's estate, that could be more of an incentive for a visit.

ENGLISH BORN--Richard Trembath, who died in 1944, came to this country in 1887. He was the father of Mrs. Edyth Zamira of San Jose, formerly of Campbell, who has been notified by estate agents in England to contact them about the estate of the late Hetty Trembath, her father's maiden sister.

Retired Manpower Club continues to grow

In September 1963, there appeared an article in The Campbell Press describing the formation of a new community-service organization, the Retired Manpower Club of West Valley. Now after these three years the organization has not only survived but has grown and is strongly entrenched in the community.

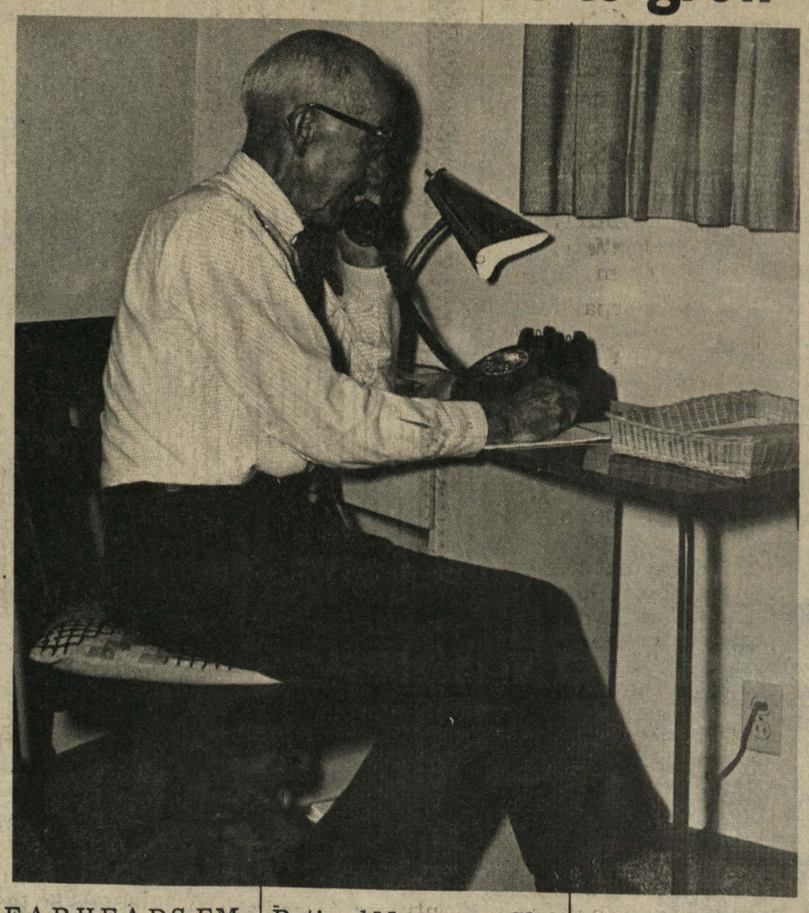
The Manpower Club assists retired men 62 and over to find jobs--particularly part-time. It's local founder and manager is Clair L. Churchman of Los Gatos.

Although some slight changes have been made in the program the Club still operates on the principles set down in the beginning. A Citizens Advisory Committee of three business men in the Valley established the policies and direct the procedures. Charles Rose of Campbell, former Mayor and proprietor of the Rose Radio and Television Service was the first vice-chairman.

Churchman reports that he has received letters from all over the nation from individuals and organizations wanting information on how to start such a group. He pointed out that the local club still needs more members to fill the wide variety of jobs offered by prospective employers. The club is non-profit and its activities are supported only by very nominal dues by its members.

All details of wages and hours of work are handled directly between the prospective employer. Churchman only takes the calls and brings the two parties together.

Anyone in this age category wishing to join or wanting to hire a worker for any kind of job, clerical or manual, is invited to call the office of the Club in Los Gatos, 354-9674.



SPEARHEADS EMPLOYMENT OF THE RETIRED - Clair L. Churchman, organizer and manager of the non-profit organization, Retired Manpower Club of West Valley, takes a call from a prospective employer. He relays the call to a member qualified for that job. Men, 62 and over, interested in obtaining part-time jobs, and employers, looking for experienced help, are invited to join the Club.

West Valley College transfers make high grade records at SJS

Transfer students from West Valley College are making good grade point averages at San Jose State College, a report issued by the dean of admissions and records at San Jose has revealed.

Dean Ralph Cummings said that West Valley College transfers during 1965-66, both fall and spring semesters, earned a grade-point average of 2.57 (B-) at SJS.

This exceeds the average of all transfers from the 75 California public junior colleges by .25, a 2.57 average against a Statewide average of 2.32, the WVC students also surpassed all students enrolled at San Jose State by .10, 2.57 as against 2.47.

Dean Stanley Benz, dean of students at San Jose State, was quoted by Dr. Wallace W. Hall, West Valley College president, as saying that these grade scores are "indicative of the fact that the California junior colleges are doing an excellent job of preparing students for upper division work in the universities and colleges of California.

"Approximately three-quarters of all lower division students in California are now enrolled in the public junior colleges," Dr. Hall pointed out. "Approximately 80 per cent of the West Valley College students completing their lower division requirements plan to complete their upper division work at San Jose State."

Dr. Hall expressed "pride and satisfaction" in the report of "the high caliber of work performed by our former students, and, it is, I think, a reflection of the high standards of our faculty here at West Valley College in preparing these students for the upper division curriculum."

A new science has appeared on the Washington scene--"AMBIDECONOMICS: in which the left hand doesn't know what the right hand is spending.

Taxpayers' money is being poured into poverty and community development programs to provide employment and educate the underskilled so they can be employed as carpenters, plumbers, electricians and in other trades. At the same time the deliberate tight money policy followed by the Johnson Administration is killing one of our major sources of employment--the building industry, creating a new class of unemployed, and blessing them with instant poverty.

Last week I received a letter from a sixty-two year old gentleman who runs a small business providing a service to the building industry. Here is what he wrote:

"The existing 'tight money' situation has either terminated or severely curtailed the activities of our clients in the building industry. Consequently, our business has suffered terrifically... Unless conditions improve materially within the next 30 days we shall be forced to close our doors. This would be a catastrophe because nobody would hire a man of my age. I would be deprived of a livelihood because of national fiscal policies beyond my control."

Last May the building trade unions in Santa Clara County had a 15% unemployment rate and it is much worse now. Nationally, building permits are down 25% from June of 1965, and lending institutions have curtailed their home building mortgage commitments by 50 to 80%. Interest rates have climbed higher and extra "under the table points" are demanded for the few real estate loans which are made. In the next year, if this trend continues, there will be a national loss of 800,000 man years of employment and $21 billion loss in expenditures related to construction. Two billion bricks won't be sold, nor will eight million gallons of paint, 5 million doors and 600,000 bathtubs. We will fall further behind in our national requirement of 1.6 million new homes each year. Tax payments to local government and federal taxes, will of course, be much lower and government deficits increased accordingly.

The Administration candidly admits it is using the building industry to manipulate the economy and combat inflation. (This is possible because the federal government has the ability to completely control the nation's credit.) But by drying up home construction, it has diverted money into high interest, short term loans which finance the purchase of television sets, autos, furniture, etc. This feeds the fire of inflation by diverting money into consumer credit channels and increasing the demand (and the price) for consumer goods. In addition, the government is competing with the home building industry for available credit with which to finance Great Society programs like the war on poverty and the Appalachian programs.

This drives interest rates up and further tightens money.

With its ambidextrous economics, the Administration has achieved what many of us previously thought was impossible. It has created inflation and recession at one and the same time! Its economists have seen a fire burning and decided that the thing to do was to throw something wet on it. So they picked up a bucket of the first available liquid they could find. It turned out to be a can of kerosene.

Grass Roots

Some gardeners will argue that there's no such thing as a "lawn substitute." Lawns are the center piece of a beautiful garden, they say. There can be no substitute. Perish the thought.

This we are willing to concede, and so is the California Association of Nurserymen. Yet we also concede that lawns are not ideally suited to all garden settings nor to all gardeners. Steeply sloping areas are best not planted to lawn, though many unfortunately are. And absentee or lackadaisical gardeners should often steer clear of lawns unless they hire others to tend them.

So let's face it. While there is no substitute for a good lawn, there are many good lawn substitutes which C. A. N. nurserymen recommend under certain conditions.

One of these looks like a lawn, grows like a lawn (though at a much slower pace) and almost passes for a lawn to the inexperienced eye. It would be dichondra, as you may have guessed, a clover-like cover that needs comparatively little mowing.

There are gardeners who claim dichondra is difficult to start, too long in taking over. The C. A. N. says this is largely the fault of improper preparation.

The soil should be dug and raked as for a new lawn, and the dichondra should be "plugged" in with nine inches or a foot between the plugs. If the soil is cultivated and not allowed to dry out or compact, it will be covered by the dichondra in a few short months.

When dichondra does take over, it survives with a minimim of mowing--once every two or three months is sufficient--and feeding about twice a year in spring and fall. Dichondra "lawns" should be baited to discourage slugs until it takes on full growth. Simply scatter pellets occasionally if you notice anything amiss.

Bruce Allen opposes junior college district bond issue

Bruce Allen, a member of the West Valley Junior College District board since its formation and its first chairman, is vigorously opposing the $21,500,000 district bond issue that will be on the ballot Nov. 8 because it means "scrapping" the 130-acre Saratoga site owned by the district.

The bond issue will provide $17 million for construction of buildings on a Santa Clara site that is not yet acquired.

Allen maintains that the college buildings should be put on the 130-acre site in Saratoga that the district has already purchased for $1,900,000. Plans for buildings on the site have already been approved.

Allen claims that a "deal" has been made with the Taxpayers Association, which he maintains is made up of a "little group of industrial taxpayers who live in Saratoga."

The "deal" means, Allen charges, that the Saratoga project would be scrapped in order to gain support for the proposed bond issue which would earmark $17 million for the Santa Clara campus.

Allen's complete statement follows:

"I am writing this because I do not want my name connected in any way with the West Valley Junior College bond proposition just placed on the November ballot. This $21,500,000 proposal is designed only to satisfy the most vocal opponents of the college in the past, not to serve the needs of the students or the taxpayers of the district.

Seventeen million dollars is for construction of buildings at a so-called Santa Clara site which is in an inaccessible cul de sac north of the Bayshore near the Santa Clara City dump. The college has no designs or plans for the buildings at that location and does not own the land. This amount of money will provide the most lavish type of construction and far more space than is needed to serve the students from the Santa Clara area.

It will squander our bonding capacity unnecessarily and prevent later bonding for construction in Saratoga.

UNUSED PLANS

"The students from the populous Union, Cambrian, Campbell and Los Gatos areas will continue to use the old Campbell grammer school. The district owns 130 acres in Saratoga, a quarter mile off the four-lane Saratoga Avenue, purchased at a cost of $1,900,000 and has approved plans for the buildings there-plans the district has paid for and which will not be used.

"In order to get bond support from the Santa Clara County Taxpayers Association, the college board also scrapped plans for the Engineering-Technology building at Saratoga, the money for which has been appropriated by the state legislature. The final, working drawings for the engineering building are being prepared at district expense by the architects.

"This building would have given us 26,000 square feet of modern classroom space in the area where two-thirds of the district students live and $1,800,000 in state money to build it. We may now lose the state appropriation. We will definitely lose at least a year in readiness of this amount of space for student use even if built in Santa Clara; it will go to bid over a year later and at much higher cost because of the constant rise in building costs.

At the same time the district is going to spend $600,000 of district tax funds for construction of more temporary classrooms on property in Campbell rented under short term leases, in order to vacate condemned buildings. In the meantime the district owned property in Saratoga lies idle.

SARATOGANS BLAMED

"Scrapping the plans for the engineering building should demonstrate that the little group of industrial taxpayers who live in Saratoga and call themselves the Taxpayers Association are not looking out for the taxes of the general public or the needs of the students. The engineering building is the most urgently needed facility in the district.

Just two weeks earlier the same board voted to order the architect to speed up work on the construction plans. The decision to cancel the project was a deal, made behind the scenes with the director of the Taxpayers Association.

"Four and a half million dollars for land purchases is included in the bond issue, far more than necessary to purchase two 130 acre campuses at any reasonable price. The haste to build in Santa Clara makes the district a ripe target for land speculators.

"San Francisco still suffers from the squandering of its money on the city hall. Don't do it here."

That all persons having objection to the adoption of said primary and secondary Codes and Standards with amendments and deletions, shall present the said objection either orally or in writing, on the said day and hour and at the said place.

BY ORDER OF THE CITY COUNCIL.

LEGAL NOTICE

ORDINANCE NO. 559

BEING AN INTERIM ZONING ORDINANCE APPLYING CERTAIN RESTRICTIONS TO THE USE OF LAND, BUILDINGS AND STRUCTURES AND TO THE ERECTION, CONSTRUCTION OR ALTERATION OF BUILDINGS AND STRUCTURES WITHIN THAT AREA BEING ANNEXED TO THE CITY OF CAMPBELL UNDER PROCEEDINGS KNOWN AS SAN TOMAS 1966-4.

WHEREAS, Section 9333.6 of the Campbell Municipal Code allows for urgency Interim Ordinances so as to prohibit uses which may be in conflict with the contemplated development of areas or zoning studies, and

WHEREAS, Section 9304 of the Campbell Municipal Code requires that the City prezone all properties prior to or at the time of annexation of said property, and

WHEREAS, properties are in process of being annexed to the City of Campbell under proceedings known as Annexation-San Tomas 1966-4, said properties being more particularly defined in map and property description attached hereto as "Exhibit A", and prezoning of these properties was not initiated in time to become final at the same time of annexation thereof, and

WHEREAS, the Planning Commission of the City of Campbell has initiated zoning procedures on these properties to insure proper and harmonious development of this area,

NOW, THEREFORE, THE CITY COUNCIL DOES ORDAIN AS FOLLOWS:

Section 1. That the area above referred to and defined in map and property description attached hereto as "Exhibit A" is hereby placed in an Interim Zone as "R-1".

Section 2. That no application for building permit, moving permit, use permit, variance, zone change or change in use of land or alteration of any existing structure may be made for the duration of said Interim Zoning except in accordance with the provisions of the "R-1" zoning requirements in the Campbell Municipal Code.

Section 3. That this Ordinance is hereby delcared to be of a temporary nature to serve only for a period of ninety (90) days from its effective date or until such time as zoning of these properties has become final as determined by the City Council of the City of Campbell.

Section 4. That this Ordinance shall be and is hereby delcared to be an urgency measure and shall take effect immediately upon the annexation of the property to the City of Campbell. That the facts supporting such urgency are that unless said properties are now zoned, uses may be initiated in the areas to be annexed which would be contrary to City of Campbell's general plan and would give rise to numerous non-conforming uses of land and make orderly development of said properties impossible. That such Interim Ordinance is necessary for the immediate preservation of the health, safety and general welfare of the people of City of Campbell.

Section 5. That this Ordinance shall be published in the Campbell Press, a newspaper published in the City of Campbell and that the owners of the property involved shall be mailed a copy of said Ordinance.

PASSED AND ADOPTED this 22nd day of August 1966, by the following roll call vote:
